DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-20 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims of U.S. Patent No. 10/108987 and 10/751505.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the claims as set forth in this application.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The recitation "at least two walls pivotally coupled along at least two junctures" is inconsistent. The two walls only coupled along one juncture.

3. Claims 1, 3, and 6-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (b) as being anticipated by Drawbaugh (676393). Drawbaugh teaches an expandable container comprising at least two walls A-C pivotally coupled along at least two junctures so as to lie substantially flat in a collapsed position as shown in Fig. 4, a flap E' pivotally coupled to at least one of the walls, a pull cord pivotally moves the flap relative to the walls thereby expanding the walls apart from one another from the collapsed position to an expanded position as shown in Fig. 2, a lid D pivotally coupled to at least one of the walls between a closed and open position, the cord being adapted to be disposed over the lid and removably engageable to the container to retain the lid in the closed position as shown in Fig. 3.

Regarding claim 3, the functionality of claim 3 does not impart any structure over the container of Drawbaugh.

4. Claims 1, 2, 6-12, 15, 17, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Beecher (696928). Beecher teaches a container having at least two walls 1,2 pivotally coupled along at least two junctures so as to lie substantially flat in a collapsed position as shown in Fig. 3, a flap E' pivotally coupled to at least one of the walls, a pull cord 10 pivotably moves the flap relative to the walls thereby expanding the walls apart from one another from the collapsed position to an expanded position as shown in Fig. 3, a lid 3 pivotably coupled to at least one of the walls between a closed and open position, the cord being adapted to be disposed over the lid and removably engageable (via the holes) to the container to retain the lid in the closed position as shown in Fig. 3.

Regarding claim 2, note the notches 19.

5. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Beecher. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to hold one cord "d" still and pulling the other chord d to provide an alternative means for erecting the container.

6. Claims 1, 3-11, 15-17, 19, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Dreyspring (21748) in view of Tahl (331568). Dreyspring teaches container having at least two walls, a flap coupled to the flap to move the flap from a collapsed position to an expanded position, a lid pivotably coupled to the at least one walls for pivotable movement between an open position and an opening position. Dreyspring meets all claimed limitations except for the cord being adapted to be disposed over the lid. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to extend the cord so that it disposed over the lid as taught by Tahl to provide an alternate means for protecting securing the box.

7. Claims 1, 3- 7, 9-11, 15-17, 19, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) as being unpatentable over Haas (616869) in view of Kane(692301). Haas teaches container having at least two walls, a flap coupled to the flap to move the flap from a collapsed position to an expanded position, a lid pivotably coupled to the at least one walls for pivotable movement between an open position and an opening position. Haas meets all claimed limitations except for the lid and cord being adapted to be disposed over the lid. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide a lid and having the cord disposed over the lid as taught by Kane to protect the contents.

Regarding claims 16, , It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to hold one cord “d” still and pulling the other chord d to provide an alternative means for erecting the container.

8. Claims 13, and 14 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
